

Call for the 18th Annual South African Film and Television Awards Jury

The National Film and Video Foundation (NFVF), an agency of the Department of Sport, Arts, and Culture, the custodians of the South African Film and Television Awards (SAFTAs), has released a national call for jury members for the 18th Annual South African Film and Television Awards (SAFTAs).

The SAFTAs are appealing to the country's film and television industry to nominate and submit experienced, passionate, measured, and insightful industry practitioners to serve as members of the SAFTAs18 Jury.

The SAFTAs18 Jury will be tasked with the enormous responsibility of maintaining the integrity of the SAFTAs' judging process and ensuring judging is conducted following the highest film and television awards standards.

The nominated individuals will also need to be fully engaged in the judging process to ensure a credible process.

Here's an overview of the SAFTAs' judging objectives:

- A. Each jury panel shall be balanced with respect to age, gender, experience, ethnicity, and industry skills.
- B. An invitation will be sent to previous SAFTAs winners and key industry specialists with a minimum of 8 years' experience and specialised skill set competency to form part of the 2024 Jury.
- C. Juries should preferably amount to an odd number with a recommended minimum of 7 and a maximum of 11 judges per panel.
- D. A preference of 70% of the skilled members of a particular jury should be practitioners working within the craft of each category.
- E. The judging process has 2 phases and 90 judging categories to deliberate on.
